TYLER IN ALEXANDRIA; DANIEL IN WAYNESBORO'.

TWO YERY FORCIBLE SPEECHES.

The Nominee for Governor Scores the McKinley Administration-The Senior Senator Greeted by a Great Crowd-Ladies Present.

ALEXANDRIA, VA., October 16 .- (Speolal.)-Hill's Opera-House was well filed to-night by a representative audience, who greeted for the first time since the beginning of the campaign the Hon. J. Hore Tyler, Democratic candidate for Governor. The distinguished centleman, who is the guest in the city the Opera-House by the Democratic Committee, and a number of well-known citirens, preceded by the Third Regiment Daum Corps. Captain Kemper presided at the meeting, and in a few happy remarks introduced as the first speaker Colonel Louis C. Barley, Democratic candidate for the House from Alexandria city and county. Colonel Barley, in a clear and forcible manner, outlined the great issues of the campaign, and paid glowing tribute to the Hon. John W. Daniel, whom, he stated, he would give his most carnest support if elected to the House Colonel Barley's speech was re ceived with much enthusiasm and evoked hearty applause.

duced Hon. J. Hoge Tyler. Major Tyler, in a humorous way, denied the report that he did not want to come to Alexar dria, and stated that it was through a mischance that his engagement for to night had been cancelled. He told a number of witty anecdotes at the becinning of his speech, which highly ginning of his speech, which highly amused the audience. Then, in a scathing manner, he criticised the broken promises of the party in power and reviewed the history of the Mckinley administration since its start, the 4th of March last. Major Tyler referred to the fact that he had been accused of being a calamity howler, and said that, owing present condition of throughout the country, he could not see how he could be otherwise. The return of confidence so temptingly held out by the Republican party in the last campaign was the subject of some very sarcastic remarks on the part of the speaker. He closed with an urgent appeal to all Democrats to turn out in force on election-day and do their duty

Major Tyler was frequently interrupted by bursts of applause, and at of his speech held a reception in the body of the hall.

DANIEL AT WAYNESBORO'.

An Enthusiastic Reception-Discusses State and National Issues.

STAUNTON, VA., October 16 .- (Special.) Senator Daniel spoke this afternoon at Waynesboro' to a splendid audience of 1,200 people. The meeting was enthusiand many ladies and clergymen astic, and many ladies and clergymen graced the occasion with their presence. Senator Daniel was introduced by Captain J. A. Patterson. The Senator took up the legislation of the State as put on the statute books by the Democracy, on the statute books by the Pennet and made a masterly array of the bet fielent enactments of the party.

As to national issues, he spo quite at length for free slive and said he feared another issue of United States bonds was inevitable under the gold standard policy, and that the "accursed fall in prices" would go on until the hard times of to-day would then be looked back to as "flush times," declared that the Senate was pa excellence the repository of free spee and representative government, and sali ically referred to Reed's Congress last spring, when the House day after day marched up to the Capitol to hear called the roll and adjourn from day to day. In an eloquent peroration he extelled the excellence of Tyler, Echols, and Montague, and had happy commendations for Opic, Walker, Churchman, and others. Messra Churchman and Walker and Hon, Edward Echols were present, Echols made a brief speech, urging the importance of electing the legislative the guest of Mr. Echols.

GENERAL LEE ROBBED ON A CAR. A Pickpocket Relieves Him of $170 in Money and Notes.

Ex-Governor Fitzhugh Lee, Consul-General of the United States at Habana, who is spending some time in this city with his family, was the victim of quite a clever robbery last evening about 7:30 o'clock. He was on his way with some ladies and gentlemen from the Langley, where he is stopping, to Buffalo Bill's performance, and in either getting on or off the car, which was one of the Richmond Traction Company's, he was relieved of his pocket-book, containing $20 in cur rency and $150 in notes. As soon as he discovered his loss General Lee told his son what had happened, and the latter reported the occurrence at the Second Police-Station, and officers were at once detailed to work up the case.

The General has no idea as to the identity of the person who thus relieved him of his worldly goods, and was very much dismayed that he should have been so victimized. At an early hour this morning nothing had been heard from the Consul-General's missing possessions,

NEW YORK, October 16 .-- The popular reception to Miss Evangelina Cossio y Cisneros at Madison-Square to-night was an extraordinary demonstration. Fully 50,000 persons, probably one-third of them well-dressed women, crowded the upper half of Madison-Square Park and filled Broadway and Fifth avenue, and waited patiently for the congratulatory speeches to be finished and the Cuban heroine to

A stand had been erected south of the Worth monument, from which the speech es were delivered and on which the Seventh Regiment Band was stationed. The crowd began to grow a little restless, and it was decided at 9 o'clock that the young lady must be brought on the stand.

Lincoln de Zayas was speaking when a carriage containing Miss Cisneros and Karl Decker, her rescuer, appeared at the stand. Attired in white satin and enveloped in a huge fur-caped cloak, the Cuban girl mounted the platform, bowing and smiling to the people. Once on the platform, Mr. Decker led his charge down the aisle between the musicians to the front of the platform. Miss Cisneros's appearance was the signal for a tremen-dous ovation by the great crowd. The men yelled and waved their hats, the the band played a Cuban battle song.

PLEASED, BUT DIFFIDENT. With a bouquet in her right hand and pleased but diffident expression on he face, Miss Cisneros bowed to her audifor hers it was, and then turned to Mr. Decker, indicating that she wanted aim to understand that the applicase was as much for him as for her.

For several moments the two stood forth, while the cheering continued. Then Miss Cisneros was led back to the rear of the platform, where she bowed and smiled to the crowd on that side of the platform. Then she descended the steps to the carriage, which was driven around the square and back to Delmonico's where the reception was continued. Previous to the appearance of Miss Cisneros on the platform, there were a num-ber of short speeches, interspersed with selections by the band. Murat Haistead was chairman, and introduced the speakers.

United-States-Senator Thurston sald that it was the duty of our government to grant belligerency to the Cubans. 'If I had my way," said he, "not only would the beligerency of Cuba be recog-nized, but I would send a battleship to Habana harbor, in order to inspire with hope and courage those who are struggling for freedom."

Sulzer was then intro duced, and was followed by Dr. De Zayas, who was the chosen representative of the Cuban colony in this city. He described the work being done by the Cuban army, and scored Weyler. The crowd frequently applauded him.

HENRY GEORGE SPEAKS. It had been announced that nearly all of the candidates for Mayor would be present to speak, but Henry George was the only one to appear. Mr. George spoke

Danger for Democrats in Over-Confidence-Professor Montague. WASHINGTON, D. C., October 16 .-

(Special.)-Colonel Patrick Henry McCauli, the nominee for Governor of the Lamb Republican faction, starts his campaign in real earnest on Monday. He is chirpy and gleeful over the distinction of running for Governor of Virginia, and by the importation of a number of northern Republican speakers he proposes to make the campaign lively for the Democrats. Of course, he has no idea that he will that the State ticket will have a very de eided influence in carrying a number of legislative districts in which the Repub-licans would otherwise be defeated. Speaking of the canvass, a prominent Virginia Democrat said to-day that there was certainly some danger in this direction, by reason of the apathy existing among the Democrats. In Augusta county, he had understood, the Republicans had a very respectable ticket, which would get the full party vote, and he regretted to hear that the Democrats were not at all alive to the seriousness of the situation. There are similar conditions he said, prevailing in other portions of the State, and in some counties the Democrats are as badly split up into factions

ADMINISTRATION SUPPORT.

The gentleman quoted, who is a veterar medician, said he had no doubt that the McCaull ticket would get the full and ac-tive support of the administration Rethe Lamb committee, while they were here this week, to give the regular or burg, however disagreeable it might be. "It is certain," he continued, "that the McCaull ticket will get a large majority of the Republican vote in the State, and it was impossible to tell what effect that yould have on the Legislature. Under the circumstances, the Democrats should wake up and bestir themselves. There is everything to apprehend from over-confidence."

WAR ON WIDOWS.

The pensions rolls, now amounting to $150,000,000 annually, are beginning to give the Republican leaders some trouble, and it is more than probable that a war on it is more than probable that a war on widows who have married since 1865 will be one of the results. It is thought by many that the legislation by which this immense outlay was made was not well

"This attitude," said a prominent Reruns attitude, said a prominent republican, "has become more and more pronounced, since it is seen that thousands of young widows are being added to the rolls, to take the place of vetarns who are dropping off, and whose pensions, which are for life, seem likely to prolong for another full generation a large part of the national burden, hither-to so patiently borne."
"People are also," continued the speaker, "beginning to push the question a little further, and to ask on what ground the government should continue to pay pensions to people who plainly do not need them. Especially, why should well-to-do men-men of property, in business, and in the professions-draw an annual stipend from the government, while others, who served equally well or better, but who now find it hard to work to make a living, receive nothing whatever, because no Confederate bullet happened to hit them, or because their health re-mained so good that they were able to serve until the close of the war without contracting a disabiling or even a con-structively disabiling disease? The pen-sion rolls should be cleared of men who have other means of living, and of all the widows who have married since the

PROFESSOR MONTAGUE.

Professor Andrew Philip Montague, who is a son of the late Judge Monta-gue, of Essex county, Va., and who is the dean of the Columbian University, this city, will leave here on Monday next for Greenville, S. C., to take the presidency of Furman University, in that Yesterday he took leave of his fellow-professors, the alumni, trustees, and students, a meeting having been called at the Columbian for that purpose. Professor Montague, who is a leading educator, and the author of several textbooks now in use in the colleges of the country, was given quite an ovation. Professor Huntington made a feeling speech with reference to Mr. Montague's connection with the Columbian Univer-sity, and to his departure. He said in "Twenty-two years ago a professor of the University of Virginia was requested to recommend to us a young man thoto recommend to us a young man thoroughly qualified to give instruction in Latin in our preparatory school, and also to some of our classes in college. In leply he named for the position Andrew P. Montague, a student of the University of Virginia, 21 years of age, and spoke of him in terms so strong and decided that he was at once chosen by our trustees to fill the place. And, in due time, baving proved himself a scholar and teacher of high order, he was appointed to the professorship of Latin in this university, a post which he has held to the present day, with great credit to himself and which he now retires only for the purpose of entering what seems to him a wider field of usefulness. PAnd now, Professor Montague, we feel and must here say that in your career in this institution you have possessed and exhibited in a very large measurs those high qualities which constitute the accomplished and successful teacher. You have shown by your work in the lecture-room, and by the excellent commentaries which you have published, that you are a master of the subjects which you have taught. You have proved that you have taught. You have proved that you have knowledge; that you have not only un-bounded enthusiasm yourself as an ill-structor, but that you have the faculty structor, but that you have the faculty of awakening like enthusiasm in others. And in your conduct toward your pupils you have beautifully illustrated that tender and patient sympathy which the professor ought to feel for those whom he is called on to instruct. And besides, by your thorough scholarship and intellectual ability, and by your high moral qualities, you have gained and held, as few others are able to do, the esteem and love of those who have sat under your instruc-

At 2 o'clock dinner was served to the students in the dining halls, which were handsomely decorated with flowers, bunting. American and European flags, &c. The afternoon was devoted by the pupils to lawn tennis, croquet, basket-ball, and other outdoor games. The school is in a most flourishing condition. The largely increased number of students has necessitated the opening of new dormitories.

Saturday morning there was a memorial service for the founders of the order in America. Among those pioneer workers in the educational field were Mother Mary Caroline Freiss, born in Paris, France, and revered as the foundress of the missions of the American vicarate; Mother Mary Seraphine, Countess von Pronath, the superioress of the first house in Baltimore; Sisters Salesia, Aloysia, and Emmanuel von Schmid, author in German of juvenile stories. They were all accomplished and highly educated women, and received a special training in pedagogy. The reputation for thoroughness which the schools they established soon won is due in no small degree to their comprehensive professional training.
